ABOUT US

An energetic consortium of 9 partners including universities and cultural institutions led by University of Burgos, Spain. The partners represent 5 EU countries: Asociación INFAD, Spain; Univerza V Ljubljani and INUK, Slovenia; Klaipedos Universitetas and The History Museum of Lithuania Minor, Lithuania; Coventry University and Culture Coventry, UK; Istituto dei Sordi di Torino, Italy.

PROJECT AIM

The project aims to improve the accessibility of cultural heritage across Europe through the exchange and promotion of good practice.

The team will develop, implement, and test innovative multidisciplinary educational material for students as future experts, as well as training for existing cultural workers.

WHY ACCESSCULT

At EU level, about 24% of persons aged 16 and over declared a disability. Culture has the potential to play an important role in making the EU and contributes to social cohesion & inclusion. The cultural and creative sectors are increasingly viewed as drivers of economic growth. 3 million university students, across the EU, study in culture-related fields and there are more than 600.000 workers in libraries, museums and other cultural activities.
